Honor Society Will Induct New Members Today

Twenty-nine students at the High School will be inducted into the National Honor Society this morning, during a special assembly.

The new members are divided between the junior and senior classes, 15 and 14 respectively. A serious program accompanies the induction of new members, under the over-all direction of Miss E. Marjorie Smith.

Dennis Houle will extend the welcome to parents and friends, and explain the principles of the Honor Society. John Weeks will lead the Salute to the Flag and Martha Zink will read from the Bible. Candles, representing five major considerations of the Honor Society, will be lighted by Dennis Houle, education; Donna Mellett, character; Virginia Perry, scholarship; Malcolm Sandberg, leadership; and Mary Ann Pasquale, service.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson will present the new members, after being introduced by Renee Dubocq.

Pins and corsages will be presented by Edith Robbins and Nancy Baker; Peter Beavan will lead the

Summit Meeting About The Dump

A full-dress meeting on the future of the town dump will be held at 7:30 next Monday night.

Featured will be the Selectmen, the Finance Committee and the special Study Committee that recommends a sanitary land fill operation at the present dump site.

The session has obviously been called to attempt to convince the Finance Committee to reverse its present decision against the purchase of a $28,000 shovel-dozer to implement the program.

Russell G. Doyle, chairman of the Selectmen, asked for the meeting on grounds that the special committee has additional information, and that this should be considered by the Selectmen and FinCom, prior to taking final action.

He said the costs of an incinerator would be discussed, but would not go into details as to other data the study group might present.

FinCom Sliced Sharply Into Budget Proposals

C.A.R. Chapter Was Organized

The first meeting of the newly-organized Colonel Samuel Osgood Chapter CAR, was held in the meeting room of the Bay State Bank Building, Feb. 10.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Edwin G. Otto, organizing president of the Chapter, and devotions were led by Wayne Thompson. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by Sue Ann Otto, after which the group read the CAR Creed and sang the first verse of "America". Mrs. Otto then introduced the following adults who have been active in the formation of this group: Mrs. Edward Thompson, vice regent, Priscilla Abbot Chapter, DAR; Mrs. Robert W. Barron, regent and Mrs. Edward V. Reed, registrar, of Samuel Adams Chapter, DAR; Mrs. Luther B. Rogers, regent and Mrs. Gardner C. Little, Betsy Ross Chapter, DAR. She then welcomed the group of members of CAR whose papers have just been

The Finance Committee, using its sharp blue pencil thoroughly, has lopped some $72,000 from departmental budgets.

Chairman Walter C. Wilson Jr. told the Selectmen Tuesday night that a few items are still under consideration, and had no final tally to announce.

The cuts in department budgets were not discriminatory - nearly every proposal was decreased to some extent. Additional new equipment has been disapproved for the most part, and "guesstimates", for items where no specific figures could be predicted, have been whittled down to the minimum. The Committee has generally stated that transfers from the reserve fund will be made, if the unpredictables are found to be larger than the allowance in the budget.

The committee's report is going to the printer this week, and will be available within a short time for full public consideration.

Details on some of the special articles, based on discussions held between the two groups of officials, will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Tractor Repair Costs Grow Less, Less, Less

A report on the $8,000 tractor - purchased last spring for use at the dump - will be presented to the Selectmen next Monday night.

The tractor has been laid up for repairs, which Town Manager Thomas E. Duff estimated in the area of $600, during the Selectmen's meeting Feb. 5.

A published report on the subject Tuesday indicated that the estimate had decreased to about $400.

And at a meeting Tuesday night, Mr. Duff told the Selectmen he now believes repairs will cost between $175 and $200.

He had been asked to prepare a report on the break-down, and the estimated maximum trade-in value of $3,000, for the Tuesday night meeting of the Selectmen and Finance Commission.

But the meeting didn't get into details on the tractor, and member Eugene A. Bernard Jr. asked that the report be made next Monday instead.

At the session Tuesday night, Duff upped his previous estimate of the trade-in value to about $5,000.

Members of the Board had expressed surprise that it would bring $3,000 or less, considering the equipment to be, at most, a year old.

Some of the problems associated with operating equipment at the dump may also be presented to the Board by the operator of the tractor. Also under discussion, it is understood, is the routine maintenance of the equipment.

Sutton Graduated From Northeastern

WINFRED E. SUTTON

Winfred E. Sutton was a member of the graduating class of Northeastern University, Boston, Jan. 22, in advanced value analysis and engineering. Dean Albert E. Everett of Northeastern University officiated at the exercises.

This was the first recognized graduate level course to be presented by any university, throughout the country, to date. It is a new phase of teaching, which enables engineers to keep abreast of new research and development, new materials, design and automation changes in our space age.

Mr. Sutton is continuing his education through continued schooling in advanced engineering, which will enable him to receive his Master's degree.

"You are to be commended," said Dean Everett, "for graduating as an honor student." Members of the graduating class were encouraged by the Dean, when he said, "This should be the beginning of a new era in the broad field of engineering evaluation."

Mr. Sutton is presently a member of the team in the Ordnance Missile Command Office at Raytheon Company, Andover Plant, Aerospace Division, in which the surface to air HAWK Missile is manufactured.

League Considered Regional Planning

Is Andover an integral part of the Greater Lawrence Community? Or is it merely a northern suburb of Boston? Or, more importantly, is Andover an unique community, an academic oasis in a growing megalopolis which wishes to preserve its own identity much in the way Princeton, N. J., recently did when it rejected plans for Urban Renewal, ousted its mayor, and proclaimed that it would not become part of a giant shopping center civilization?

These were some of the questions which perplexed Andover League of Women Voters members who last week attended unit meetings on Regional Planning. League members not only became conscious of the complexities of planning for a community such as Andover, but also realized that planning for Andover can only emerge after the citizens of Andover have articulated some image for the Andover of tomorrow.

Andover is not presently engaged in planning with the Greater Boston area. However, eight different governmental authorities are planning for metropolitan Boston. Since the plans of these diverse groups do not seem to be coordinated and Massachusetts continues to be burdened with an outmoded constitution, even the most optimistic citizens take a dim view of what if any thing will emerge.

Andover is, however, at the moment represented on the Central Merrimack Valley District Regional Planning Commission, which was organized in 1959 and which is presently studying the Greater Lawrence area. North Andover, Methuen and Lawrence are also members of this district. To date, the work of this commission seems to have been limited to the authorization of a variety of studies of the area by the Planning Service Group of Cambridge, the meetings were told. These surveys have covered such topics as development prospects, land use, development objectives and goals, major highways, and industrial sites.

The surveys reveal that Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover are held together by common problems - a polluted Merrimack River, a dying dominant industry, the new stimulus of Route 495, and a new interrelationship with Boston.

These scholarly tones also characterize the area as one of low wages, chronic unemployment, and a low intensity of development. The assets of the area are divulged as a rich labor force, usable building space, growth industries, available land, and a location near to Boston.

It is the survey which deals with the possible future industrial sites of the area which most concerns Andover citizens. These blue-printers of our future have disclosed that by 1970 7,000 new jobs will be needed in the area, that good land usage is computed at 15 employees per acre, and hence 465 acres must be found. In the four communities of Lawrence, Methuen, Andover and North Andover, the consultants found 2,165 acres available for industrial sites with 1,305 acres, or 61 percent, in Andover and already zoned for industry.

Andover League members reviewing these surveys wondered if perhaps now is the time for the people of Andover to decide if Andover should be the rising industrial community of the Central Merrimack Valley. They wondered, too, if the Central Merrimack Valley is a logical entity. It does not, for example, include Salem, N. H., which is surely an important part of the Greater Lawrence area. They also recalled that the great Boswell of the Merrimack Henry Thoreau, observed more than 100 years ago that the railroad had replaced the river as the integrating force of the area.

Many members of the League suggested that the citizens of Andover might apply more imagination to their tax situation. They asked if industry is the only solution for expanding the tax base. "Are there not expanding and relocating educational institutions and organizations serving education which could locate in Andover and thus preserve some of its character?" queried one League member.

The surveys of these master planners reveal that the growth industries of the area are (1) electrical machinery and (2) ordnance.

Grillo Winner Of Count Down

Several students recently participated in a science countdown at the Junior High School.

This is a question and answer period similar to a spelling bee to determine the one student who will represent Andover in the county and state competitions for the title of Junior Scientist of Mass. for 1962.

This year's winner at the school was James Grillo. Runners up were Arthur Vaughn and Helen Hurley. Participants for the coveted state title will come from public, parochial and private schools throughout the Commonwealth. The contest is sponsored by Lowell Technological Institute and a Boston radio station. County and state winners will be awarded certificates of merit, books, watches, TV sets and other prizes. This year the state winner will be provided an all-expense paid trip to some scientific point of interest, such as a rocket launching site or atomic energy installation. Included in the first prize also will be a one year scholarship to Lowell Tech.

Miss Anna Boutwell has returned to her home on High Plain rd. after undergoing medical treatment at the Lawrence General Hospital.

SUMMIT MEETING ABOUT DUMP

FinCom Chairman Walter C. Wilson Jr. agreed that he and his associates would maintain "open minds" as far as additional data is concerned, but stipulated that present facts lead to the conclusion that the land fill operation is not mandatory.

On the other hand, he announced approval of the $25,000 request for garbage removal - not as a public service so much as a matter of public health. This, he continued, seems far more important than does purchasing the tractor-dozers for a land fill dumping process.

One of the associated problems, when considering the dump, is the amount of gravel and fill needed to maintain the land fill operation.

An estimated $11-12,000 might be needed for this material, during the balance of 1962, and the budget now contains funds for this purpose. These will be stricken from that document if the special article on the 'dozer is voted down.

Mr. Wilson commented that Town Manager Thomas E. Duff has "indicated basically the same feeling" regarding the issue.

Mr. Duff, in turn, said he generally agrees with the FinCom on this problem.

But then he also stated that, as an ex-officio member of the study committee, he supports the proposal for sanitary land fill, and will support the article to buy the 'dozer.

He explained that the present tractor, purchased last year, is too small for the operation. Purchase of the heavier equipment would start the town on its way towards the sanitary land fill method, he stated. Duff also reminded the gathering that an open, burning, dump is the cheapest type to operate, and that the town should consider itself lucky to have been able to conduct this type of operation over the years.

There was general discussion about the rodent problem at the dump being caused, in part at least, by as many as one-third of the townspeople throwing garbage into the dump - although this is not allowed under existing regulations.

Raymond LaRosa suggested to the meeting that few complaints have been heard in recent years about garbage disposal, while many have been received about the smoke, smell and debris associated with the dump. He termed garbage collection as a decreasing problem, because disposals and incinerators are more widely used.

GALLANT SERVING AT PENSACOLA

Gerald Gallant, airman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Gallant, 45 County rd., is serving at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

Pensacola, called the "Cradle of Naval Aviation", is the hub of the Naval Air Training Command, where every naval aviator and Marine pilot begins his quest of the coveted "Wings of Gold."

Peatman Named Building Inspector

Arthur Peatman, 47, 46 Carter rd., began his duties as the town's building inspector this week.

He will work with outgoing inspector Ernest N. Hall for a week, to become familiar with the system.

Mr. Peatman was appointed last week by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, with the approval of the Selectmen.

Peatman has been foreman of the Doyle Lumber Co. since 1946 and has an extensive background in the construction field. He also has been active as a member of the West Parish Church Building Committee.

His salary will be $6,750 annually, which the town manager explained is the maximum rate for the position. Hall would have reached this step after two meetings.

The manager said he would anticipate reclassification of the position another year, so that it would not be a financial dead-end for the appointee.

Mr. Peatman, in addition to his affiliation with the Doyle Lumber Co., has been a carpenter for the Boston and Maine Railroad and has taught cabinet making in the Andover High School evening classes. He currently serves as a member of the School Building Committee, in charge of the new school on Lovejoy rd.

Harnessed Light Beam Is Powerful

A powerful burst of light beam energy that can burn a hole through a stainless steel sheet 1/32 inch thick in 1/2000th of a second, has been generated by Raytheon Company scientists. The laser-produced beam can also ignite paper 14 feet away.

Revealed by the company today were results of tests with its newly developed LH-3 pulsed laser (Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation), the most efficient light amplifier yet reported.

Laser action makes it possible for the first time to harness previously untapped random light waves. Laser beams are expected to be used in radar, communications, medicine and biology, measurements, guidance and control of space vehicles, fabrication and processing, and as a basic tool for investigating materials.

The LH-3's beam, produced by six inch ruby and focused through a telescopic lens, is extremely narrow—only 1/4 of an inch wide at the 14-foot distance. By cooling the output to 321 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, (liquid nitrogen temperature), laser efficiency and output are doubled. Uncooled, the output is 7-10 joules (one joule is one watt of power for one second). Cooling increases output to 15-20 joules.

Emphasis At Cand

The first candidates night of the current political season was Feb. 7 at South School, where 10 interested men and women were paying close attention to the candidates' statements.

Following prepared remarks, the meeting was open to questions and these dealt mostly with the School Committee, and candidate Vincent P. D'Amore. In one portion of the question and answer period, he was asked which case was referred to by the speaker. He stated that most people were referring to the case of a child who had been killed - while probably dying on whether or not the School Committee took the proper action.

Following are the remarks by the candidates: Earl Simon is chairman of the question, "What is the Most Important Problem in Your Solution?"

Selections: Broad

Roger Collins: Broad tax base, to pay for services demanded by residents. He also mentioned Rogers Brook, recreation and trash collection and dump as problems facing Selectmen.

R. Wayne Long: Long planning needed to handle growth; present Urban plan is "Inconceivable", sort of plan is needed; should be considered thinking about garbage collection; commented on Wolfson report of last year indicating that some additional services can be paid for by tax income from new homes shown to be paying taxes.

B. Allen Rowland stated that problems are Urban Renewal. Through Selectmen have influence on this activity. It is key to stable broadened tax base. Industry, but compatibility of residents; grant responsibility to town management of government.

Raymond W. Schlapp: tax base through industry and business growth, and of town to support services without doing "No to ourselves" attitude opposed to accepting the state funds.

William Stewart: town form of government is problems include demand for water supply in future; continuing study sources; garbage and rubbish; and the dump problem.

Renewal, extensive and plan requiring thorough debate before special town considers it.

Questions of Selectmen: Selectman Stewart was about the dump problem. Remarks that alternative sanitary land fill method is forthcoming, by Richard, a member of that study committee. Stewart said he believes the proposal should be brought out at town meeting for consideration can at least be made, even if they are expensive; said he would alternate if the committee.

Indeed, there was little paid to the office of Selectmen. Most of the questions were by candidates for the School Committee.

Emphasis On Schools At Candidates Meeting

The first candidates night of the current political season was held Feb. 7 at South School, with some 100 interested men and women paying close attention to the candidates' statements.

Following prepared remarks, the meeting was open to questions and these dealt mostly with the School Committee, and charges by candidate Vincent P. Davey that morale is low among teachers here. In one portion of the question-answer period, he was asked if the Dimlich case was referred to, and he stated that most people "would agree" that it had been poorly handled - while probably disagreeing on whether or not the School Committee took the proper course of action.

Following are the main comments by the candidates for each office, as they answered the general question "What is the Most Important Problem and What is Your Solution?"

Selectmen
Roger Collins: Broadening the tax base, to pay for increased services demanded by residents, by inducing "select" industries to locate here. He also mentioned Rogers Brook, recreation, garbage and trash collection and the town dump as problems facing the Selectmen.

R. Wayne Long: Long range planning, needed to handle problems of growth; present Urban Renewal plan is "inconceivable", but some sort of plan is needed; incinerator should be considered, when thinking about garbage and refuse collection; commented that the Wolfson report of last year would indicate that some additional municipal services can be paid for with tax income from new homes, which were shown to be paying their own way.

B. Allen Rowland statement, delivered by Mrs. Hart Leavitt: main problems are Urban Renewal, although Selectmen have no direct influence on this activity; expenditure of funds - efficient government is key to stable tax rate; broadened tax base through industry, but compatible with desires of residents; granting responsibility to town manager for administration of government.

Raymond W. Schlapp: Broadening tax base through industrial and business growth, and inability of town to support increased services without doing so; urged "do it ourselves" attitudes as opposed to accepting federal or state funds.

William Stewart: town manager form of government is "sound"; problems include demand for additional water supply in future, requiring continuing studies for sources; garbage and rubbish disposal and the dump problem; Urban Renewal, extensive and complex plan requiring thorough study and debate before special town meeting considers it.

Questions Of Selectmen
Selectman Stewart was asked about the dump problem, and his remarks that alternatives to the sanitary land fill method should be forthcoming, by Richard Moody, a member of that study committee. Stewart said he believes alternatives to the proposal should be brought out at town meeting, so that consideration can at least begin to them, even if they appear too expensive; said he would present alternatives if the committee does not.

Indeed, there was little attention paid to the office of Selectman, as most of the questions were directed to candidates for the School Committee.

EDWARD M. KENNEDY
(Bachrach)

Edward M. "Ted" Kennedy, a member of the Board of Trustees of Boston University, brother of the President, and assistant district attorney of Suffolk County, will address local graduates of Boston University and their friends at the annual dinner meeting of the Boston University Alumni Club of Greater Lawrence, Wednesday evening, Feb. 28, at the Rendezvous in Methuen.

Mr. Kennedy has chosen to speak about his observations in South America during tours he made in 1959 and again in 1961.

Andover residents who are officers of the Club include Atty. Gerald M. Lewis, Fred B. Cole and Mrs. James Walsh, all members of the Board of Directors.

All graduates of Boston University and their friends are invited to attend. Tickets are being distributed by Atty. Lewis, who is co-chairman for the evening's affair, and the following: Mrs. Howard D. Ponty, Mrs. Anna Flynn Walsh, Fred B. Cole and Mrs. James Walsh.

Davey also commented that low morale "stems from a feeling that running the schools has been taken from the administration", despite the fact that it is his job to formulate policy on education.

Both Mr. Sullivan and Mrs. Buchanan noted they had always followed the recommendations of the superintendent on teacher appointments.

In answer to a question on the function of the School Committee, the following answers were given: Davey - to advise and help the superintendent, allowing him to do his job.

Liponis - no one has monopoly on ideas, in reference to Committee members' function.

C.A.R. CHAPTER WAS ORGANIZED

approved by the National Board, and those interested young people and their parents who were also present, and who are working on making out their applications.

The officers of this new Chapter are as follows: Anne E. Crocker, Methuen, president; Robert G. Little, North Andover, vice president; Linda Sue Munroe, Boxford, chaplain; Pamela J. Thornton, Andover, recording secretary; Jane Parker Valpey, corresponding secretary, North Andover; Carl Borowski, Hampstead, N. H., treasurer; Wayne Thompson, Andover, registrar; Phillip D. Valpey, North Andover, historian and John J. Yurka, Methuen, librarian.

Following introduction of the officers, David Thompson gave a history of the CAR, which was founded in 1895 by Mrs. Daniel S. Lothrop, writer of children's stories under the pen name of Margaret Sidney. She was the author of "Five Little Peppers and How They Grew". The objectives laid down by the founders are still the objectives of the CAR: To promote the acquisition of knowledge of American History; to preserve the places made sacred by them and women who achieved American Independence, and the marking of such sites, and to promote the celebration of patriotic anniversaries.

The local chapter is named after Samuel Osgood, who was born in North Andover, Feb. 15, 1748. He prepared for Harvard at Governor Dummer Academy and graduated from the Cambridge institution in 1770. It was not long before he was named by his fellow townsmen as a member of the Provincial Congress at the age of 26 and he resumed his activities in that body after his military service as a Captain of Minute Men at Lexington and Major of Brigade, as aide to General Artemus Ward at Cambridge. He was a member of the delegation from Andover to the convention which framed the constitution under which Massachusetts became a state. He later became a state senator and United States congressman. He was America's first Postmaster General and one of the three original commissioners of the national treasury. The Colonel's birthplace still stands in good condition on Osgood st. in North Andover, and is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Murray Howe.

This house was marked with a plaque in Sept., 1953, by the National City Bank of New York, of which Samuel Osgood was the first president, and the Andover Historical Society.

Mrs. Otto pointed out that Mrs. Herbert E. McQuesten of North Andover, honorary state regent of the Massachusetts State Society, DAR, and past vice president general of the National Society, had done considerable research on the background of Samuel Osgood, and was the one who suggested the name for the CAR Chapter.

The group made plans for attendance at the annual Washington Memorial Wreath Service Feb. 22 at the State House, Boston, at which Governor Volpe and his family will be guests. Following the service and a reception by the Governor, the young people will tour the Freedom Trail and later lunch at Paul Revere Balcony, Parker House. Several of the young people from the local group are planning to attend.

Following the announcement of the program of State meetings for the year, and discussion of times and frequency of future meetings, the meeting was adjourned. Refreshments were served by Mrs.

Robert Barron, Mrs. Garrison Little and Mrs. Earl K. Thompson Jr.

Samuel Osgood Chapter, CAR, is jointly sponsored by the following DAR Chapters: Priscilla Allen Andover; Betsy Ross, Lawrence and Samuel Adams, Methuen.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Facts On Teacher Turnover

It is not our intent to mix into the current political campaign — except in the case of misunderstood facts, which become campaign issues.

Such is the case in the School Committee campaign, where it is said that the rate of 30 new teachers yearly indicates low morale, dissatisfaction with the system.

A small amount of research, plus the accumulated experience gained in covering the School Committee meetings, indicates that morale is the smallest of factors involved in this subject.

Not all of the 30 teachers are replacements — some are new teachers hired to augment the present staff.

Some resignations are for private, family reasons — known but not published routinely nor entered in the minutes of the School Committee for posterity.

A few teachers move — most are women whose husbands are transferred to other areas.

And some do leave because they get better jobs; or they don't like it here and want to move.

But it is stretching the facts to use them to show that morale is low because 30 teachers a year is the average "turnover"

Referendum Makes Sense

The decision of the Great and General Court, in turning down the bill to allow fluoridation of the water supply to be on the ballot in March, is quite sensible.

This subject was decided a year ago on the ballot; thus it would be appropriate to require that proponents seek out sufficient signatures of registered voters to guarantee that there is substantial interest in voting on it again.

The Legislature expects to pass a bill allowing the Boards of Health to place the question on the ballot; or, if the Board does not, then proponents can get five percent of the voters' signatures on a petition. If this is done, the question would go on the ballot automatically, without asking legislative approval.

If local proponents wish to take the necessary steps, via petitions, and can come up with the necessary signatures, then it makes sense to vote again on the issue. But it makes no sense at all to merely vote annually, first on the petition of one side, then the other.

When the Legislature turned down all the requests for voter action via the ballot — Andover was one of several communities involved — it at least returned to the town some self-rule. Now, at least, the townspeople will be the ones to decide whether such issues go on the ballot or not.

Who Wants It?

Although there are many issues involved in the municipal dump problem, it appears quite clear to us that the location of the dump should not be changed.

Neighbors now complain about the facility; it smokes and smudges; rodents appear in neighboring yards; it smells bad.

Now this will always be true of a dump, if it is operated in the present manner.

It is unpleasant, no doubt. Property values in the immediate area are lower, because of the condition.

But how fair would it be to plant this nuisance in someone else's back yard?

We can imagine no more controversial a move than one to remove the facility to some other part of town. Nor can we consider such a step to be anything else but completely unfair to those now living away from the dump, who might then be affected by it.

If a sanitary land fill operation is not adopted, thus alleviating the present nuisance, we fear the present residents of the section surrounding the dump will have to continue their objections until something is done. But that "something" should not be merely moving the problem away, into someone else's neighborhood.

Go, Listen, Vote

The candidates' night, held Feb. 7, proved nothing, if it did not prove that more voters should attend these meetings.

Although the questions mostly centered on School Committee problems, the voters present were able to see and hear most all of the candidates for major jobs, and to thus evaluate the candidates.

It's one thing to read a general statement of a candidate's opinion on a subject; it's quite another to hear and see the candidate state this position.

It's good for the voters to have this opportunity, and, equally, it's the best thing in the world for the candidates to confront the voters face-to-face.

The session was lively — and we suspect the next meeting Feb. 28 at the High School will be even more interesting and informative.

All serious-minded voters should plan to attend that meeting.

Next week, the library will be closed Thursday, Washington's birthday, but special story hours will be held Monday, as there will be no school all week. In the morning, Feb. 19, at 10:15 o'clock, Andover young people will have their meeting and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, Ballardvale boys and girls will have the same stories told in the branch library. "Stories With A Mystery" is the name of this vacation week program. Among the tales to be told are "Doctor, and Detective, Too", "Stolen Turnips" and "The Case Of The Sensational Scent".

Great Books

The Great Books Discussion Group will read Hesiod's "Theogony" for their next meeting, to be held at the library on Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 7:30 o'clock. Those who have ordered books should inquire at the desk if they have not yet picked up their sets.

Holiday Closing

All departments of the Memorial Hall Library will be closed Thursday, Feb. 22, for the observance of Washington's birthday. No books will become due on that day. The branch library will be open Friday for the usual hours, 2-5 and 6-8 p.m.

Films For Groups

There are several unusually good films to be on hand at the library for the use of local groups during the periods indicated below: until Feb. 24, In And Around Amsterdam, color, 11 minutes; Feb. 26-March 2, City Of Gold, 23 minutes; Feb. 26-Mar. 10, My Majorca, color, a 16 minute film that shows the beauties of the island's great cliffs, its old palaces, ancient towers built by the Phoenicians, its shrines and fiestas; Feb. 26-March 10, Man In Space, color, 35 minutes; this is a vivid depiction of rocket development from the ancient Chinese weapons to modern missiles. Through animated sequence, the film shows how man may conquer outer space and establish artificial satellites above the earth; March 5-10, Louis Braille, 5 minutes; France bestows its highest honor on Louis Braille on the 100th anniversary of his death in this film which also reviews some of his many accomplishments; March 12-24, From Ten To Twelve, 26 minute discussion of how the emotional and physical development of children at this period manifests itself in their behavior, their attitudes toward their parents, their teachers and others; also for this period The River, nine sequences in the life of the valley of the Mississippi River during the last 140 years, including the development of the TVA and correlated Federal efforts; three Canadian color films will be available from now until the end of March: they are A Double In Blue Fins, 13 minutes, Nova Scotia Saga, 14 minutes and Ontario Sun Parlour, 22 minutes of film on the historic area of the Niagara peninsula. All films should be reserved early to avoid disappointment.

New Subscriptions

Each year the library reviews its subscription list of magazines for the use of Andover readers. Those periodicals which have outlived their usefulness or their interest for our readers are carefully considered, at times discontinued to be replaced by something that fills the current demand, or has greater reference value for the future. There is every effort made to touch upon as many areas of information as possible, and in important fields an attempt to present a fair over-all picture by offering more than one point of view. Several titles are newcomers to the subscription list this year, among them American Historical Review, Motor Trend, National Parks, Negro History Bulletin, Popular Gardening and Intercom.

The reading public expects to find current affairs, world news and national subjects, homemaking magazines, pictorial weeklies and the better known garden publications; perhaps not all readers know that the files include magazines about art, forestry, antiques, birds, finance, consumer needs, dance, display, hobbies and crafts, health, aviation, opera, salesman-

Will Speak Here On Educational TV

DOROTHY CULBERTSON

Dorothy Culbertson will speak this Saturday, Feb. 17, at Abbot Academy in Davis Hall at 8 o'clock on Educational TV.

She has for many years been one of the pioneers in network educational television, and before that in radio.

Second Presentation Of Cinema Classics

Cinema Classics second presentation in its six part mid-winter subscription series, is the prize-winning work of producer-director Satyajit Ray.

Less than 10 years ago, 31 year old Ray, with an ancient movie camera paid for by sympathetic friends, set out to define and illuminate the day to day living of his people. What emerged was an actual life of India as revealed through one family of father, mother, sister and brother. Told in warm, human and poetic terms, Ray's first film was immediately singled out by discriminating critics from Cannes to San Francisco; and in New York was honored by the New York Times, The New Yorker, and Time, who found the film not only beautiful and compelling, but particularly revealing for Westerners who know little of intimate Hindu life.

Ray immediately followed up with a second and third film dealing with the same family, and this trilogy is already considered a classic of the cinematic art form. Each of the three films can be seen as a separate and complete entity. The first segment reveals the life at home and struggle of the family when the brother and sister are very young. It was shown as part of the Phillips Academy Adult Education Course in their 1960 film series.

The second part, which Cinema Classics feels fortunate to bring to the Andover Junior High School Auditorium, deals with the mother's struggle to ensure her son an education, and with the young man's ultimate breaking away from her to make an independent life. The New York Herald Tribune said of this film: "Extraordinary! A picture no serious movie-goer will want to miss. Again one is struck by the remarkable universality of Mr. Ray's work."

Subscription tickets are good for any four of the remaining films. Both series tickets and individual admissions may be purchased at the door. Screening time will begin promptly at eight, with a skiting film from the German embassy, followed by a Robert Benchley short.

Mrs. Jack Kyger and Mrs. Richard Comins will be happy to answer requests for any further information by phone.

New Listing Of Honor Students

Lindsay J. March, principal of Andover High School, has announced a new system of determining and listing honors in the Senior Class at graduation.

The principal features of the new plan are the extension of departmental or subject matter honors listing, and the designation of the ranking top 10 percent of the class without regard to such orders as formerly indicated by the titles, "valedictorian" and "salutatorian".

A statement of the reasons for this action have been given by Mr. March:

"For some years, as high school enrollments have risen sharply, the traditional device of selecting a valedictorian, salutatorian, and honor essayists has become increasingly unwieldy; it has resulted, at times, in the sort of inequities which an automatic selection can often yield. The actual difference in finding averages among the higher-ranking seniors has been so slight as to have little or no significance. The selection of subjects, number of courses taken by each student, and other factors which influence average marks have wide variation. As a result, about half of the high schools in Massachusetts have discontinued the old system. The new method, which will eliminate the selections noted above and will henceforth be in effect in Andover High School, is the result of careful study and has been approved by the faculty and the School Committee. We feel certain it will result in fairer appraisal of the academic achievement of high school students regardless of courses taken.

"Probably the most important and satisfactory nature of the new policy will be the extension of recognition of achievement of honors by individual students within specific subjects or departments.

Teachers and department heads will recommend such listings, and thus afford to many more students the possibility of having their excellence in an individual field of study recognized.

"It should be noted that these changes concerning graduation honors only, and have no bearing on transcripts of records or other administrative data, in which evaluation factors will continue to be reported and recorded as in the past.

"Recognition by designation on the graduation program of members of the National Honor Society will continue in the same manner as it has in previous years.

"Recognition of the top 10 percent of the class will be made on the graduation program by appropriate listing of students in that group, but without the former designation of orders of rank.

"It is hoped that this new policy will go far toward eliminating most of the undesirable features of the former policy. We believe that it will and that students and parents alike will find it infinitely more to their liking."

Woman's Club Plans Activities

The February meeting of the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club was held Monday evening, Feb. 5, at the Andover Country Club.

Mrs. George W. Ainscow, president, presided over the business meeting. Following the invocation by Mrs. Warren Oldaker, the recording secretary's report, and the corresponding secretary's report, the reports of the various club departments were given.

Mrs. Nicholas Mulick, chairman of the Drama Department, announced the next meeting of that group will be held Feb. 16 at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Thomas Neil, 15 York st. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Joseph Pennick. Mrs. Phillip Winters will be the refreshment chairman.

March 17, a St. Patrick's Day Dance will be held by the Club at the Andover Country Club. Mrs. Phillip Winters, chairman, announced that a cocktail hour will precede the smorgasbord dinner to be served at 7:30 p.m. Dancing will follow until midnight. Members will be contacted by the committee in the near future.

Daniel MacKay, guest speaker, was introduced by Mrs. Fred Saunders, program committee member. Mr. MacKay, a fire-fighting specialist, presented an interesting travel tour of the Antarctic, spiced by many colorful slides that aptly illustrated the desolate, remote area. Pictures of the United States scientific research base at the South Pole proved to be of particular interest.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of Mr. MacKay's talk by the refreshment committee under the direction of Mrs. Homer Judge Jr. and Mrs. James Carmichael, co-chairman. Mrs. John T. Batal and Mrs. James Baxter served as pourers. Other committee members included Mrs. Herbert Andersen, Mrs. Walter Anderson, Mrs. Edward Andrews, Mrs. William Bailey, Mrs. Melvin Beck, Mrs. James Byrnes, Mrs. A. Morris Campbell, Mrs. Frederick Cole, Mrs. Arthur DeMaris, Mrs. George Gliss and Mrs. Charles McCullom.

TWO MANAGERS? Jonathan Rairigh, Eagle Scout from Explorer Post 73, took over the duties of Town Manager Thomas E. Duff Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 7. Other scouts assumed the positions of many department heads in the town government, to find out what makes the municipal government run. Rairigh has just presented a plaque to Mr. Duff, in honor of the occasion. (Staff Photo)

Brook Gets FinCom Veto

Let the voters decide. That was the ultimate decision Tuesday night, after the FinCom and Selectmen disagreed on appropriating more money for Rogers Brook.

The FinCom disapproved the article calling for another $10,000, on top of the $195,000 already approved.

Said Chairman Walter C. Wilson Jr., "It's too high an expenditure for its value to the town".

Noting that the estimated cost of one-third of the job, from the River to Main st., now has risen about $100,000 over the state's estimate, Mr. Wilson suggested that the figures are "too nebulous" to be dependable.

The Selectmen briefly ran through the reasons why the task should be done - but there appeared to be no room for agreement between the two groups.

The town fathers feel that they should depend on the advice of consulting engineers Camp, Dresser and MacKee, and go forward with the lower part of the reconstruction. This must be done before up-stream work can commence. They have pointed out the increasing problems in the brook area, and the increasing flow of water as land is developed in sections feeding into the brook.

After brief discussion, the groups

Concert Sunday At Gallery

The first in a four-concert series will be presented at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, Sunday afternoon at 3:15.

The series is being presented in cooperation with the music department at the Academy, according to Gallery director Bartlett H. Hayes Jr.

This Sunday, Miss Virginia Rubottom, pianist, will present works by Mozart, Beethoven, Berg and Liszt.

Miss Rubottom has studied on the West Coast and in London, where she gave a series of concerts. More recently, she has given concerts in New England. Most notable of these was her appearance with the Portland, Me., Symphony orchestra, conducted by Arthur Fiedler.

In private life, she is Mrs. Donald Hoopes, wife of the director of the Portland, Me., art museum.

DUFF SETS AMOUNT OF PAY INCREASES

A 4.8 percent pay increase for policemen and firefighters and a four percent hike for other municipal employees has been announced by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

He said the increases cost $28,000 this year.

It was also reported that the advisory personnel board and the Finance Committee have agreed to the increases. Mr. Duff indicated that the Town Employees Association Salary Committee also looks favorably on the raises.

Gym Team Show Here

Andover's outstanding gymnastics team will present its home exhibition at the high school the evening of Feb. 23.

This year the first show by the Exhibition Team was at Wilmington.

For the past two years, increased attention has been focused upon gymnastics in the physical education program, largely through the efforts of Donald D. Dunn, Joseph Donnelly and Miss Ann Strout, all members of that department. Gymnastics skills are taught to all pupils in the regularly scheduled classes. Now, increased emphasis and instruction and practice. Boys and girls interested in this additional training become members of the Gymnastic Exhibition Team.

The team performs in schools and YMCA throughout this area. The exhibition itself requires about two hours. It consists of gymnastic floor exercises, comedy acts, heavy apparatus work on parallel bars, the high bar.
